

Win a prize in our Logo Design Competition!

Our world is warming up faster than it has done for millions of years. The Greening Chiddingly Group was formed so that the local community, including Chiddingly school parents and children, can think about what we can do to help combat climate change.

At the moment we do not have a logo for the group, so we would love your help to design one! We are looking for something simple that tells a story – a logo that gets people to think about the environment more.

All you need to do is...

- Draw your design inside the circle on the other side of this page.
- You might think about drawing something that we can all do to help, for example using more solar and wind energy, planting trees, buying fewer things, recycling, driving and flying less and walking and cycling more.
- You could include things that might be affected by climate change, like trees, insects and other plants and animals.
- It would be good to use a green colour somewhere in your logo because we have the word green in the name of our group.

There is a prize available for the best logo from each class. The overall winning design will be used by a local artist to help draw up the official Greening Chiddingly logo!

All the designs received will be displayed on the art wall in the village shop later this year.
